What is Women Techmakers?

It is a global initiative promoted by Google to give visibility to women in the field of technology.

Women Techmakers pretends to create a community with visibility, generating resources that encourage innovation and the participation of women in this sector. These events are designed to promote the inclusion of women in technology.

Who is the target audience?

We want to cover various topics such as new technologies, agile, communication, web development, UX or any interesting trends in the sector.

Attendance at the event is open to both men and women, but the speakers will be exclusively women, as one of the objectives is to give them visibility as well as to promote a safe space that encourages female participation.

Would you like to sponsor?

We want to promote female role models in technology, empowering more women in our community so that in the future they will not be considered a rarity!

None of this would be possible without the collaboration of sponsors: thanks to them, we can offer a higher quality event and reach a wider audience.

We offer you the opportunity to showcase your company, your projects, and your commitment to diversity in technology by sponsoring our event.

In addition, you will be featured on our website, on the auditorium screens, and you will be able to reach attendees with materials in the welcome pack.

Join the community

Mulleres Tech is a non-profit community created to give visibility to women in Aragón who are involved in technology in Aragón, either professionally or as a hobbyist.

- This association was created by a group of women concerned about the limited female presence in the technology sector, which through initiatives like this wants to encourage the active participation of women in technology and serve as a role model and inspiration for the younger ones.
